HELLO!

Do you know that J. W. Race, of the firm of J. R RACE & CO., has just returned from New York, where he bought goods cheaper than ever?

Yes, I've heard so and that they are now receiving an immense stock for the Spring trade; but they always did have the largest and best stock in the city, and sold them mighty cheap.

Did you hear about their Watch Donation?

They are Stem Winders, and guaranteed to keep good time, and are given away with every $20 and over worth of goods purchased of them for cash, at one time

Buy a $20 Suit and get the correct time.

When are you going around to see their stock?

Why just as soon as I can get time. Every day is opening day with them. They are always ready to wait on customers and give them bargains.

AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color or deep black as may be desired By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened and baldness often though not always cured

It checks falling of the hair and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the Vigor is unequalled It contains neither oil nor dye restores the hair soft glossy and silken in appearance and imparts a delicate, agreeable and lasting perfume

Mr. C. L. Bartlett writes from Airby, O., July 2, 1883 I was losing my hair rapidly and in a short time I became nearly bald I used part of a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR which stopped the falling of the hair and started a new growth I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bald

J. W. Bowen, postmaster of the Mc Dill an (Ohio) Paper, says: AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is a most excellent preparation for the hair I speak of it from my own experience Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft Many ladies also say it is the best dressing

Mr. Andrew Fairbairn, head of the celebrated Fairbairn family of Scottish Chiefs writes from Boston Mass. Feb 6, 1883 I recommend my hair has all its very evident of the change which dressing this month I have used AYER'S HAIR VIGOR and it has enabled to maintain an unusual amount of youthful ness—a matter of considerable consequence to me here I am sure there are very few who live in this city of the public

Miss O A Prescott writing from 18 Flora St, Charlestown, Mass April 14, 1882, says: For a long time I could not do anything with my hair, it fell out very rapidly in lumps, finally my hair was falling so fast that I knew a month my head would be entirely bald. I then began using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and it has continued to grow and is now as good as before it fell. I regularly used but one bottle of the Vigor but now use it occasionally as a dressing.

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR It is but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.

One of Webster's Stories.

Daniel Webster was fond of a good story, and told a few illustrating his early life in New Hampshire One evening at a convivial party, where he and several distinguished lawyers were present, the conversation happened to turn on the legal profession "When I was a young practitioner," said Mr Webster, "there was but one man at the New Hampshire bar of whom I was afraid, and that was old Barnaby There were but few men who dared to enter the list with him On one occasion Barnaby was employed to defend a suit for a piece of land, brought by a little, crabbed, cunning lawyer called Bruce Bruce's case was looked upon as good as lost when it was ascertained that Barnaby was retained against him The suit came on for trial, and Barnaby found that Bruce had worked hard, and left no stone unturned to gain the victory The testimony for the plaintiff was very strong, and unless it could be impeached, the case of the defendant was lost The principal witness introduced by the plaintiff wore a red coat In summing up for the defense old Barnaby commenced a furious attack on this witness pulling his testimony all to pieces, and appealing to the jury if a man who wore a red coat was, under any circumstances to be believed 'And I who is this red coated witness?' exclaimed Barnaby, 'but a descendant of our common enemy, who has striven to take from us our liberty, and would not hesitate now to deprive my poor client of his land, by making any sort of red coated statement!' During this speech Bruce was walking up and down the bar, greatly excited, and convinced that his case was gone knowing, as he did, the prejudice of the jury against the British Whilst, however, Barnaby was gesticulating and leaning forward to the jury in his eloquent appeal, his shirt-bosom opened slightly and Bruce accidentally discovered that Barnaby wore a red undershirt Bruce's countenance brightened up Putting both hands in his coat pockets, he walked to the bar with great confidence, to the astonishment of his client and all lookers on Just as Barnaby concluded Bruce whispered in the ear of his client 'I've got him—you rascal is safe' and approaching the jury, he commenced his reply to the slaughtering argument of his adversary Bruce gave a regular history of the ancestry of his red-coated witness, proving his patriotism and devotion to the country, and his character for truth and veracity 'But what, gentlemen of the jury,' broke forth Bruce in a loud strain of eloquence while his eyes flashed fire, 'what are you to expect of a man who stands here to defend a cause based on no foundation of right or justice whatever, of a man who undertakes to destroy our testimony on the ground that my witness wears a red coat when, gentlemen of the jury—when, when, when, gentlemen of the jury?' (here Bruce made a spring, and, catching Barnaby by the bosom of the shirt, tore it open, displaying his red flannel), 'when Mr Barnaby himself wears a red flannel coat concealed under a blue one?' The effect was electrical Barnaby was beaten at his own game, and Bruce gained the cause —Exchange

Tin Mines in North Carolina.

Considerable interest has been aroused by the reported discovery of tin in North Carolina Meager accounts have been published in the Northern press The discovery was made by a young man, Robert T Claywell the son of a merchant of Morganton, N. C, while attending school at King's Mountain Claywell's bent for mineralogy was developed when a lad through his accompanying Prof J T Humphrey the discoverer of two precious gem bidden in his mineral explorations through the State Claywell noticed the peculiar mineral about a year ago and collected several specimens of it. His examinations showed them to contain tin He sent some of the ore to the Carolina exhibit at the late exposition at Boston, where it attracted much attention An analysis of it gave a percentage of tin as high as seventy per cent The locality of the discovery is Cleveland County N. C, near King's Mountain Station, on the Air Line Railroad from Charlotte to Atlanta The property is about four miles from the battle field of King's Mountain

The conformation of the country thereabout is undulating The outcrop ranges about fifty yards wide, runs through King's Mountain village and is traceable about one and a half miles Its trend is northeast and southwest The soil formation is decomposed mica schist Where the stratum is exposed it shows an irregular vein of quartz associated with rutile tourmaline and tin ore in crystal form scattered through it The property is owned or controlled by W T R Bell, of King's Mountain, Dr Charles W Dabney, State Chemist, of Raleigh Judge A C Avery and Robert T Claywell of Morganton The development so far has been inconsiderable, chiefly confined to prospecting for the vein The showing however, is very encouraging Trenches or cross cuts have been run in four places, exposing the strata These disclosed a more or less irregular and broken vein surface One of them showed a vein about three feet wide, with another eighteen inch spur vein leading toward it This main vein was sunk upon, some fifteen feet, and was found to run nearly vertically through partially disintegrated slate, tending to grow solid with depth The quartz and vein matter grew solider with depth The recent continuous rains made it impracticable to do much sinking with the present facilities, but the evidences thus far point to the existence of a tin vein and mineral in place

The formation and association of mineral are similar to those of the Cornwall mines England Seven quantitative analyses made last week by Prof Hunt of Charlotte from the first vein matter taken out averaged forty five per cent. of tin This discovery in a State justly proud of its rich and varied mineral and other resources forms a leading subject of interest and conversation —Salisbury (N C) Special

—If you wish to give an extra touch to your cottage pudding, after it is in the tin ready to bake, put little lumps of butter on the the top and scatter cinnamon and sugar over it —Boston Globe

Buck Lorenzo, the minstrel, has been employed by J. H. Haverly for a long through Europe at a salary of $[illegible] a week. The highest ever paid a burnt cork artist.

According to Senator Vest, the Missouri Democrats are bound to run Samuel J. Tilden for President, though he be "cold and feeble," "dead or alive." The Senator evidently appreciates the situation. It doesn't matter much whether what the Democrats may put up a stick of wood or a handful of bones would do just as well as anything. The person or thing set up for a candidate is pretty sure to be knocked down flat, anyhow.

The New York Herald, speaking of the action of the Democrats in the House in refusing by a vote of 140 to 107 to consider a bill to repeal the law of 1870, urged in the interest of administrative reform, says: "This is not a good record to stand upon. It seems to the hard look of the Democratic party like the bank of the Republicans when once they may have any prospect of success but as this error is taken through blindness, which we expect since has been able to prevail, they have chosen party. It is well, however, to call attention to their record."

THE NEW CITY GOVERNMENT.

The Standing Committees Now Maintain Their Strictly Control.

The adjourned special meeting of the city council was held last evening at the city hall and as it was the second meeting of the incumbents of the new administration the hall was packed to suffocation by those who were in large number present to witness the proceedings of the first legislature. The meeting was called to order by the mayor at 8 o'clock, when all the new members with Ald. Parke and Ald. Dawson entering shortly after took their seats. Mr. Mitchell was absent. The oaths were then administered by Justice Hall to Mayor Chambers, four years; Ald. Wayne, W. H. Blair, C. F. Moore and T. N. Dodd.

The following committees were announced: Ald. Blair, chairman, Ald. Wayne, Ald. Dawson, Ald. Parke, Ald. Dodd and Ald. Moore.

Ald. Dodd offered a resolution that Broadway, between Williams and Prairie streets, and Water street, between Priest and Jackson streets, be sent to grade so as to carry off the surface water, said grading to be done in place of the now ordered. (Referred.)

Ald. Moore offered a resolution that the ditch on sewer now being opened on King street be referred to the Public Improvement committee. Adopted.

At the suggestion of Ald. Roberts the mayor appointed a special committee to revise the rules of order for the new council and present them for adoption. Rob. Parke, Lake and Dodd were appointed as such committee.

Cyclone in Gentry County.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 29.—News has been received here of a cyclone that passed over that portion of Gentry County, Mo., between Union Star and King City, about forty miles from St. Joseph, Saturday evening. The cyclone struck near Union Star at about six o'clock and lasted but a few seconds at any given point, but left destruction wherever it went. The cloud was funnel-shaped and only about fifty feet wide. It was black and forbidding, and was accompanied by the usual roaring sound warning people of its approach and giving them time to escape from their houses to their cyclone caves, which nearly every family in that region is provided. By this means nobody of the [illegible] reported, while otherwise there would have been. The storm was preceded by a terrible hail storm. The cloud struck the hill, skipping some parts and coming down again with terrific force, and for a distance of three miles from [illegible] it struck and went up and all [illegible]

A TRACK OF DESTRUCTION.

It first struck near Peters' schoolhouse and tore that building to pieces. [illegible] of John Holland, half a mile south, was the next destruction and started for Dan's cave, all reaching it except a little girl, nine years old. She was caught up, carried up fifty feet in the air, whirled around a few seconds and landed on the ground within ten feet of where she was [illegible], without a scratch. Holland's house was entirely destroyed.

Near Peters' school-house a Methodist minister, who was on his way to the neighborhood to preach Sunday, was caught. He clung tightly to a small tree and his clothing was entirely stripped from him. He was not otherwise injured.

Bob Dean's house, half a mile further on, was wiped.

The farm house and barn of Robt. Lemon were also demolished, together with a set of farm scales which were torn from the ground and carried a [illegible] away. The water was [illegible] out of his well.

The houses of Pulaski Sweet and Henry Sweet and of Joe Fredericks [illegible]

Robert Price's house was lifted from its foundation and carried fifty feet. His barn was blown down and his buggy torn to pieces.

At the farm of Barton Wilson several cows were lifted up and carried a hundred yards and deposited in another field. A horse belonging to Wilson was carried an eighth of a mile and killed.

Three were stripped of limbs, and at [illegible] go at help were scooped in the ground. Several persons were injured but none seriously.

STILL WHIPPED HIM.

A Brave Girl's Successful Defense of Her Honor.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Jennie and Mary Griffin are orphans and live alone in Rossville, Staten Island. They own the cottage where they live. Their mother died five months ago. They are highly respected. Jennie is nineteen, and Mary sixteen years old. Jennie is a handsome brunette, tall, well developed and muscular. She and Mary sleep together in the second story of their cottage. On Saturday night Jennie was awakened by the feeling that she was smothering. She felt some one strangling her and keeping a grip on her throat. Then a light was put in front of her face and she saw that her assailant was a negro. As he turned to [illegible] the light he loosened his grip a little. Then Jennie made a quick start, broke his grip, rose in the bed and with her clenched hand struck the man in the face. The blow was so powerful that it knocked the fellow who was kneeling on the bed to the floor. He again sprang on the bed and Jennie hit him with one hand and scratched his face with the other. "I was not a bit frightened," she said in telling of the adventure, "but terribly angry." By this time Mary, who had been half dead with fear, found her voice and began to shriek lustily. Jennie, too, added her voice to the outcry. The negro attacked her the third time, but by this time was scared, and then [illegible] the window and raised it. Jennie followed him, and, as he jumped, gave him a blow that sent him headlong. He was jumped from the window to her father's cattle and ran to a neighbor's. A [illegible] was found and search was made. Blood marks were found where the [illegible] after jumping. They led to the [illegible] of the house, and there Tom Wilson [illegible], who had known the girls all their lives, was found, bleeding profusely. In telling, after Jennie's last [illegible] he had struck his chin on an ash-[illegible] and the sharp edge had cut his throat. His face was plowed in [illegible] by Jennie's nails. She identified him as her assailant, and yesterday he was [illegible] and taken to the Richmond County jail, it being thought unsafe to keep him in the neighborhood of [illegible], where the feeling against him is very strong.

QUINCY MOLDERS.

Order Restored by the Council—A Printer's Burial—Cruelty.

QUINCY, Ill., April 28.—After a period of excitement, during which a very slight trouble would have caused riot and bloodshed, better feeling is restored. There is still, however, strong feeling, and there may be a recurrence of trouble this week. Wage workers, outside the molders, are most numerous in the gatherings. The Council's attempt to bring about a settlement turned the attention generally in this direction, but at a meeting of the union last night it was decided to accept no reduction. The reduction made was to fifteen cents from twenty-five cents above board price—a reduction of twelve per cent. Quincy has worked on St. Louis prices, and no reduction being made in St. Louis is one reason for the Quincy molders holding out. The expression of views, however, led to a better understanding. Two foundries are reported willing to resume at old prices and a victory for the molders is anticipated, as a heavy loss of trade is feared. Five "scabs" have left since Saturday. The molders publicly announce their disapproval of the riotous proceedings, and many will assist the officers to prevent a recurrence of trouble. The police force is doubled, and the Sheriff will appoint a number of specials to-day to quiet apprehensions.

The funeral of Wm. Thies, a union printer, was attended yesterday by over 500 molders, cigar-makers, printers and other members of union organizations.

CRUELTY AND NEGLECT.

The Humane Society last night took charge of an infant child of Mrs. Westfall found in a hovel literally starving to death. The child was a mass of bones covered with dirt and weighed, though ten months old, only as much as at birth—eight pounds. It is one of the most revolting cases of cruelty and neglect noted here.

LATER.—The molders this afternoon most positively refuse to accept a reduction and send this word to the St. Louis molders. All is quiet. Eight more "scabs" will be out of the foundries to-day.

DEVOTED UNTO DEATH.

The Sad Fate of Mrs. W. M. Gillmore.

EFFINGHAM, ILL., April 29.—The Circuit Court convened yesterday, Judge William C. Jones presiding. The term will be a short one. At two o'clock this afternoon court adjourned until four o'clock, to enable the members of the bar to attend the funeral of Mrs. Gillmore, the wife of U. M. Gillmore, a son of the County Clerk, James L. Gillmore. The manner of her death was distressing. Her husband was sick with consumption. On the 1st of April last they went to Texas for the benefit of his health. They had reached El Paso, Tex., rented a house and intended remaining there awhile. They had been there three days. They got the water they used in the house from a well on a neighbor's lot. The neighbor had been annoyed with some Mexican thieves, who for some time had been committing thefts on his place. He had set a spring-gun, double-barreled, and loaded with buckshot. Mr. Gillmore took up the water bucket to get water, but his wife took the bucket from him, saying "I came along to wait on you; you are not able to bring it."

On her way to the well she discharged the gun, of which she had no knowledge, and both loads struck her, with fatal effect. She lived about a day. Her remains, accompanied by her feeble husband, reached here last night and were buried to-day. She leaves a child eight months old.

A CHANCE FOR GOVERNOR HAMILTON.

Let Him Pardon a Brave Girl and Receive the Thanks of All Lovers of Virtue and Fair Play.

CHICAGO, ILL., April 28.—Sadie Reigh, who shot and killed Kingley Stewart at the Briggs House for making improper proposals, was this morning sentenced to eighteen months in the Penitentiary on her plea of guilty of manslaughter. In passing sentence Judge Anthony said that the chastity of women was held sacred, that he who willfully, without cause, slanders a woman, must expect to suffer the consequences whatever they may be; but that the court had no desire to establish the precedent that the proper punishment for slander is death. The defendant is pleased with the sentence.

Trial Begun.

AN AWFUL CONFESSION.

The Hanging of Old Man Jellerson Described by His Guilty Son.

The Diabolical Deed Done by Himself and Two Brothers-in-Law—Ignoring Pitiful Appeals.

The Horrid Confession Fully Corroborated By the Testimony of the Aged Widow.

A Confession.

DES MOINES, IA., April 29.—Cicero Jellerson, one of the parties arrested for the hanging of old man Jellerson in Audubon County, has made a full confession, implicating himself, Smith and Wilson in the hanging. The two latter are sons-in-law of the murdered man. Young Jellerson says that Wilson was the leader in the movement. The motive for the crime was that some time since the murdered man had been accused of incest with one of his daughters, who is Wilson's wife. The neighbors place no credence in this accusation, believing that the old man was innocent and that the murder was wholly unprovoked.

The following is Cicero Jellerson's confession, which was made under oath in the court-room in the presence of a great crowd of people.

My name is Cicero B. Jellerson. I was twenty-five years old on the 15th day of this month. I reside in Carroll County, Iowa, formerly resided in Audubon. I am acquainted with Huam Jellerson; he was my father. The last time I saw him was Friday night, the 25th. I saw him under circumstances of murder. J. J. Wilson and John A. Smith were the leading ones who committed the deed. Wilson, Smith and myself are the ones who did it. We left the residence of Wilson in Carroll County at eight o'clock Friday evening. Smith rode his own horse, and Wilson and I rode Wilson's horses. We tied our horses to trees a few rods from the house and stopped there and had plans how we should proceed. Wilson took a rope which he had brought and Smith and Wilson burst the door open. We all went inside; then went to the bed and pulled father out. Father said: "Cicero, is that you?" nobody answered. Mother said: "No, that is John Smith." We brought him to the front room and choked and smothered him, and one took the rope out of my hands and put it on father's neck. Father begged of us not to hurt him. He had the rope on him and we started out doors with him and went dragging him along by the neck. I had hold of the end of the rope and Smith and Wilson were behind. As we were dragging him along he said, "Don't, John, don't hurt me so." Wilson stopped and tightened the rope and John and I pulled him along. When we got to the tree Smith threw the end of the rope over and I helped pull father up, Wilson taking hold and lifting the body until we got it clear from the ground. When we got him up we tied his hands behind him and wound the rope around his body, but I don't know just how. I think he was about dead then, as he only kicked once or twice after we got him up. Wilson tore father's shirt open and tied it over his head. The shirt was the only clothing he had on. We stood around a few minutes and Smith and Wilson put on their overcoats and we untied our horses and mounted them and rode off.

We arrived at Wilson's ten minutes past four, Saturday morning. It was quite daylight. We murdered father about midnight. We took handkerchiefs and cut holes in them for eyes, and wore them over our faces for masks. I threw mine into the stove and burned it after I got home. Wilson bought the rope at Coon Rapids a week ago Saturday that we used to hang father with. They had been talking to me about hanging father for a week or ten days, but I objected and did not want to help do it. Smith came to Wilson's Friday morning and we agreed to go that night. They told me they would make away with me after they got back that night if I did not go along with them and help them. John Smith said we had better go that night as it was dark and the roads were good and we could get back before morning. I told them we would get into trouble and get arrested, but they said we could go and get back before daylight and go to work in the morning as usual and no one would mistrust us. I went against my will, but told them I would go and they made arrangements where to meet and about what time.

CORROBORATIVE.

Cicero's testimony coincides exactly with that of Mrs Jellerson at the inquest relative to the scene on the night of the murder. It is stated upon good authority that J. J. Wilson bears a good name and character in Carroll County. It seems his marriage with Lucy Jellerson was brought about through the influence of John Smith. They were married February 14, 1882. Cicero's statement is that immediately after the marriage Wilson suspected that she had not always been virtuous, and he accused her, when she frankly admitted that she had repeatedly been intimate with her father through compulsion and that she had once been in trouble by him. This enraged Wilson and he said he would either leave her or kill the old man. She wanted him to do neither. He consulted Smith and the tragedy of Friday night is the result of the consultation. Many believe that Smith was the real party who got the girl, or girls, into trouble and caused them to charge it to the old man.

The prisoners are in no danger from citizens at present. A rumor that their friends from Carroll County would raise a mob and come down and liberate them caused a ripple of excitement, but it has only increased the vigilance. Sheriff Herbert has the prisoners behind three iron doors, and the people will stand by him and assist him in the discharge of his duties. He will keep the jail strongly guarded.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Hiscock to Speak on the Tariff.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—Hiscock, the leader of the Republicans, is booked for a tariff speech to-day. The Protectionists have great expectations. Hiscock has been at work on his speech for three months. It has been given out that the speech is intended for circulation among farmers. Hiscock has been busy, and he has had assistants collecting statistics, which he has manipulated, in order to show how beautifully protection has worked in the interest of the farmer. Congressman Frank Hurd will probably reply to Hiscock to-day.

BOASTING.

The Protectionists are again boasting of their ability to strike out the enacting clause of the Morrison bill. Both Randall Democrats and Republicans continue to predict that they will have twenty majority in favor of a motion to strike out.

CONFIDENT.

The revenue reform leaders take no stock in these inflated predictions. They think that the vote on the motion will be close, but they believe that it will fail. The fact is that, whether justified or not, the revenue reformers are more confident now than at any time since the Morrison bill was reported, that they will pass a tariff bill through the House. They are in excellent spirits and good temper. The Randall Democrats, on the contrary, are troubled, uneasy and given to petulant complaints. Some of them are exhibiting fears of popular sentiment at home.

The Blair Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—The friends of the Senate educational bill were hard at work endeavoring to muster large support for the bill in the House. They will make every effort to secure action on the measure if possible before adjournment. They would in all probability succeed if the bill could be reached for consideration. It can not be reached unless it be made a special order for a given day, but this can not be done unless two-thirds of the House vote to suspend the rules. The opponents of the measure are confident that they can defeat a motion to suspend the rules.

Innocents as Committee Men.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.—Samuel Woods, of Syracuse, formerly Assistant United States District Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania, testified before the Springer Committee to-day. He had never read the law; was not supposed to be a lawyer when he was appointed Assistant Attorney; was assigned to duty at Bradford, Penn., where there were many violations of the Internal Revenue laws. Keepers of houses of bad repute there sold tobacco, cigars and liquors without a license. After they had violated the laws for three or four years they were allowed to pay up back taxes and penalties and thereby escape prosecution.

Astonishment was expressed by the members of the committee that licenses were issued to persons of that character, when their character was known to the Collector, and more astonishment at the failure of the officers to prosecute them for violation of the law.

In Favor of McKinley.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.—In the contested election case of Wallace vs. McKinley from the Eighteenth District of Ohio, the sub-committee to-day decided to report to the full committee in favor of, McKinley (Republican), the sitting member. The vote of the sub-committee is as follows: For McKinley, Robertson, Rainey and Hepburn, for Wallace, Turner and Adams.

Frank Hatton Retires.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.—Frank Hatton to-day retires from editorial control of the National Republican, but retains an interest, and Clinton A. Snowden, who has secured an interest, assumes entire editorial management.

COMMITTEE WORK.

Bounty Lands.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—The sub-committee of the House Committee on Public Lands decided to favorably report to the full committee Representative Townshend's bill granting bounty lands to soldiers of the late war. The bill provides that every person who served in the late war not less than fourteen days, and has been honorably discharged, shall be entitled to eighty acres of public land, those who served not less than one year to 120 acres, and those who served not less than two years to 160 acres. In the event of the death of such person during service, or after honorable discharge, a patent shall issue to the surviving wife, child or children, if there be any, and if none, to the father, and if no father, to the mother.

POSTAL TELEGRAPHY.

The sub-committee of the House Committee on Post-offices and Post-roads having under consideration postal telegraphy, met yesterday to consider the bill providing for the contract system. The Senate bill on that subject was taken as a basis. A lengthy discussion took place respecting the maximum uniform limit at which the contract should be made. Some members of the committee contended the uniform rate should be fixed at twenty cents for twenty words, while others held twenty cents too low to induce competent corporations to compete for the contract, and maintained the maximum rate should be at least twenty-five cents. The opinion was expressed that the full committee will adopt the latter figure. The bill was not perfected when the sub-committee adjourned, and definite action was postponed until to-day.

INDIAN RIGHTS.

Several representatives of the Indian Rights Association appeared before the Senate Committee on Appropriations and made appeals for a more liberal provision for Indian education.

He will continue the publication of his monthly magazine devoted to science, and will have it printed in St. Louis. He and family are expected here in July.

Stove Mounters' Strike.

TROY, N. Y., April 28.—The stove mounters employed by the Fuller & Warren Co., and Bussey & McLeod struck this morning on account of the employment of non-unionists, and an attempted reduction of twenty per cent. It is feared the strike will become general.

P. A. Green, the preacher barber, remarks that the "Evergreen Club," a literary society composed of 15 colored Ciceros, is soon to be reorganized for the coming watermelon season. "The smell of soap-suds in the air,
The floors and walls entirely bare,
The piles of debris everywhere,
The housewife with a vacant stare,
And handkerchief tied o'er her hair,
Are signs which all men fear,
They knew that when they stumble o er
The pots and kettles on the floor,
They'll clutch a freshly painted door,
And vainly, wildly thirst for more,
Because, as in the days of yore,
House-cleaning time is here."

Boys caught gambling are dealt with summarily. Justice Curtis assessed a total fine of $190 and the costs, $28.70, against 7 boys yesterday, and the chain gang supplement was attached to the judgment to make the case more binding.

THE BISHOP'S RECEPTION.

Dedication of the W. J. Quinlan Residence—Testimonial to Rector Moore.

Last night was an occasion of peculiar interest to many of our citizens. Mr. W. J. Quinlan is a man who has dwelt long among us. For more than a score of years he has in every way endeavored in achieving success for himself in honorable callings, to advance the interests of our community and his fellow-man. From fair beginnings he has steadily accumulated a handsome fortune. He has ever maintained a reputation for being open-handed and sympathetic. He has conducted himself as a faithful steward of good things. His prosperity has been enjoyed by all who have known him, and they rejoice at his success and good fortune as well merited. It is not true in this case that accumulation of wealth tends to narrow a man's character. One such instance atones for the opposite in so many cases. Mr. Quinlan's action in regard to his change of habitation in dedicating his new home with religious services is in complete harmony with his past career as a noble, generous, God-fearing man. May prosperity multiply unto him. May he live long and see good days, and be spared to continue his usefulness as a man, as a citizen, as a Christian. Any mention of the facts upon which these assertions are based would be unpleasant to him and offend his habitual modesty, but they are matters of familiarity to us all. We pass on to the ceremonies of the occasion. At 7 o'clock many friends especially invited assembled to witness the blessing of the house by the bishop of the diocese, the Rt. Rev. Geo. F. Seymour, S. T. D., LL. D. The service was printed so that each person might have a copy. It was prefaced by hymns, selection of Psalms, a lesson from the Holy Scripture. The music was rendered by the choir of St. John's church. Then followed an explanatory address by the Bishop, of which the following is a synopsis:

There is no need to interpret for you the meaning of this service. It speaks for itself.

There is some importance always to be attached to the occupation of a new home, as a break in the old life and to some extent necessarily the inauguration of a new one. It is a reproach to modern christianity that men do not recognise God as our forefathers once did. They associated the presence and providence of God in the commonest affairs of life, even to the minutest detail. As they realized that their substance was of God, so did they recognize His influence in the smaller matters connected with the sustenance of existence, as well as in the greater and more important. The fishermen asked God's blessing upon their nets. The life-boat was dedicated to Him who is the source of all life. The husbandman besought the benediction of God's representative, upon the instruments of his toil, recognizing God as the author of the harvest.

So too the thought of God sanctified all the solemn moments of life. At the inauguration of new epochs in life, in changes of natural and social surrounding with the change wrought by such influences in view, it is peculiarly fitting that we, as they, should bear such things in mind. This is the purpose of our friends and the intent of this service. They desire that you should be with them as they take possession of this their beautiful new home, and with them unite in praying for the blessing of Him from whom all good things do come, that He will sanctify them in their new surroundings and bless them in all their new relations, in their goings out and comings in, in the inevitable moments of sickness and death, as well as in their hours of happiness and pleasure. They desire to welcome you to this handsome abode of generous hospitality, in a God-fearing manner. This is a change from their former more humble home to a new and different home.

"Home." Consider all that is bound up in that familiar word. It means more than words can express. It speaks of the mother's soothing care and loving kiss. It reminds us too of the father's death-bed. How blessed it is when Religion sanctifies thus the association, of even common things, "Home." Man but faintly reflects the image of the "Home" above, where is the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Christ, where the home here and home relations are to be continued in a higher, purer, sphere.

After this a prayer was offered. After some further prayers and blessing of the house came the "Gloria-in-Excelsis," a most beautiful selection from the eminent composer Berthold Tours, and then followed the Benediction.

The service closed just at the hour appointed for the reception tendered the Bishop by Mr. and Mrs. Quinlan. Many more guests came streaming in to pay their respects to the hospitable host and hostess and their distinguished guest. Perhaps the most prominent feature of the reception was the arrival of a large body as a delegation from the Masonic fraternity, of which the Rector is a member.

TESTIMONIAL TO RECTOR MOORE.

After paying their respects to the Bishop, an address was read by Mr. E. P. Vail, Master of Macon Lodge No. 8, which was prepared as a memorial for Mr. Moore. The following is the burden of its contents:

DECATUR, ILL., April 12, 1884.

To Rev. and Bro. W. H. Moore, Rector of St. John's Church, Decatur, Ill.:

With a dignified respect for your profession and calling, and with Masonic consciousness of the obligation and duty you owe to yourself, we address you:—

"The call for your services and companionship, as Rector to the Parish at Springfield, Ill., being the occasion of this expression, whereby our Masonic relations as to this locality would be necessarily severed, we plead that you be not so removed.

Believing the principle of christian charity as humanity to be a precept ordained, and a duty universal, the locality of your services belongs here, as well as elsewhere. The fruit of your past labor is budding to bear the "fruit of promise," as a result of zealous exertion; to the husbandman belongs the harvest. You are entitled to the harvest of religious compensation in this locality as the condition;

Therefore, as men and brethren of the Masonic body, we ask of you deliberate consideration of duty to God and your fellow man in the acceptation or a proffered change; trusting therein your decision to remain among us as heretofore, faithful and industrious as a Mason, the servant of a religious your devotion has proven your choice; and in this result "the cruse may have plenty, and all profit thereby."

Truly, your Brethren,

J. N. Baker, E. C. No. 9, K. T., F. M. Young, Gen. No. 9, K. T., Wm. H. Starr, C. G., J. C. Hostetler, Wm. E. Nelson, John K. Warren, Cy. M. Imboden, Geo. S. Durfee, Geo. W. Bright, Chas. M. Allison, J. H. Gorin, W. H. Acuff, A. W. Small, W. W. Foster, L. L. Haworth, N. L. Krone, Recorder, Wm. C. Armstrong, John Hatfield, P. E. C., Wm. M. Boyd, Edward P. Vail, W. M. No 8, Jno. H. Muzzy, S. W. No. 8, A. M. Werner, J. W. Hurd, H. P. Macon C. of A. M., F. M. Young, W. M. Ionic No. 312, Wm. J. Wayne, R. I. Perry, Treo. A. Gearman, S. Macon C. R. A. M. 21, P. Loeb, J. S. McClelland, Chas. H. Fuller, P. E. C., Rockwell A. Newell, Wm. B. Chambers, Wm. J. Quinlan, L. Burrows, H. C. Crosthwait, J. W., No. 312, R. Eugene Pratt, J. D. Templeton, C. O. Piatt, J. W., No. 4, C. L. Hovey, S. W. No. 312, M. G. Patterson, A. H. Vigdor, John A. Barnes.

In replying the Rector showed what a deep impression the testimonial had produced upon him. He spoke of the deep attachment which he had possessed, both for the individuals of his own parish, as well as his brethren in the fraternity. It was a matter of great consolation to him that duty and inclination both drew the same way. In closing he introduced the Bishop as his "Worshipful Master," whom he was bound to obey. The Bishop acknowledged the introduction in a few well-chosen remarks, alluding genially to a warning to be brief, which he had received from the conversation of a little child. The allusion was much enjoyed by all who knew the circumstance.

Among the clergy who were present were the Rev. F. W. Taylor of Danville, and Rev. A. W. Walter, the English Lutheran pastor of this city. The legal profession was represented in Judges Greer and Nelson and Messrs. Clark and Macoughtry; the medical fraternity by Drs. J. Brown, Ira Barnes, W. A. Barnes and Moore. Among the prominent citizens were the Mayor, Messrs. L. L. Haworth, J. E. Behring, J. M. Clokey, J. F. Roach, L. Burrows, T. J. Abel, John K. Warren, Geo. S. Durfee and L. L. Ferris.

AN effort is being made to have a Cumberland Presbyterian church built in Decatur. Dr. Bell, president of the board of missions, was in the city looking into the matter. It is proposed that a church to cost $10,000 be erected. A. J. Wallace will subscribe $500, and the Mills brothers a like sum. There are about 40 Decatur people who are old members of the C. P. denomination.

IF THIS notice should meet the eye of any officer or soldier of Company I, 7th Regiment, Illinois Cavalry, who was personally acquainted with Sergeant Edward M. Gibbs, he will confer a favor by sending his address to his daughter, Inis Gibbs, Mt. Ayr, Iowa, Lock Box 99. 29-d3t-wlt

MRS. MARION MOORE, daughter of the late A. J. Metlin, met with a serious accident north of the city Sunday evening. She was thrown out of a buggy and two of her ribs fractured. Her head was also bruised. Dr. Cass Chenoweth, who attended her, says the injuries will not prove fatal.

ALL is quiet at the "Board of Trade" rooms. No markets, and L. C. Thompson, the manager, is missing. Manager Ewald has shut off the telegraph supply, and is making inquiries as to the whereabouts of Thompson.

WHERE OTHERS FAIL.

The merits of ATHLOPHOROS as a specific for Rheumatism and Neuralgia are best proved by the fact that it cures when other treatment fails. Says Mr. G. G. Thompson, of New Haven: "For twelve years I have been a sufferer from Rheumatic Neuralgia, which attacked me suddenly without warning, destroying all hope of sleep or rest. I have tried hundreds of remedies. With the exception of ATHLOPHOROS not one of them afforded me the slightest benefit. It has done me more good than all the other remedies combined."

Modern Science and Skepticism

What has Skepticism done for the world?

Nothing but to suggest doubts. It has ever suggested that Rheumatism cannot be cured. Skepticism is as bad as Rheumatism.

What has Science done for the world?

A good many things; for instance, it has shown that Rheumatism can be cured.

It has shown that Neuralgia can be got rid of.

Modern science has proved that Rheumatism is a blood disease, and has provided ATHLOPHOROS as the remedy which can completely cure it.

It has proved that although the old doctors failed to overcome Neuralgia, ATHLOPHOROS can reach it, and eradicate it from the system.

It has proved that though these tormenting diseases were so slow and obstinate, they can be overcome in a little while by means of ## Athlophoros!

Don't be skeptical. If you have any doubts as to what ATHLOPHOROS can do, write to some of those whom it has cured. For instance, Rev. S. R. Dennen, D. D., Pastor Third Congregational Church, of New Haven, Conn., the Rev. W. P. Corbit, pastor George St. M. E. Church, of New Haven, the Rev. J. E. Searles, pastor Willett St. M. E. Church, New York city, Mr. Brummell, the well known candy manufacturer, of New York, Ex-Gov. Bigelow, of Connecticut, and many others, equally well known.

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

Fresh Romance.

Mr. Thomas Evans, of Louisville, Ky., was formerly a photographer. In the hopes of bettering his fortunes he went to Arkansas on a prospecting tour. That was in the early part of 1882. It will be remembered that last year a series of most destructive floods occurred in Arkansas. Cities and villages were invaded by the relentless element. One night the rain came, and with scores of others, Mr. Evans awoke to find himself in the grasp of the waters. He was rescued by some adventurous boatmen, but in such a weak, unconscious condition that for eight hours he was believed to be dead.

He was taken to a hospital, where he was seized with an illness which kept him in his bed for twelve months, and well-nigh proved fatal. When he gradually recovered he found himself paralyzed in the arm and hand so that he could not write. The letters he dictated were either miscarried or never sent, so that the only intelligence he received from home was a report of the death of his wife. He recovered all but the use of his hand after awhile, and then it was months before he was able to return to look up his children.

In the meantime it was reported here that he was drowned in the flood, from which, indeed, he so narrowly escaped. Mrs. Evans refused for a long time to believe what every one else accepted as truth, until, as the weeks and months rolled on, with no other tidings of either good or ill, she was at last forced to conclude herself a widow. The prospect ahead of her was a dreary one.

A joyous surprise was, however, in store for her. As she sat at her window Thursday, near noon, looking out on the street, her eye was caught by what seemed a familiar figure. Her heart beat wildly, and looking closely, she saw what seemed to be the ghost of her husband hobbling along the street on crutches and looking eagerly around for the house to which he had been directed. Had a thunderbolt struck her she could not have been more astonished, and, almost fainting, she sank into a chair, deathly white and trembling. Her little daughter, frightened at her mother's unnatural appearance, ran to her side, and in a weak voice was told to run down to the door and meet her father. The child went to the window, and looking out, saw her father approaching, but the crutches deceived her, and, returning to her mother, she said the man was not her papa. By this time, though, he had reached the door, and in another moment was in the arms of his wife. The meeting was an affectionate one. Husband and wife were alike overjoyed at the discovery of the cruel mistake under which they had been laboring, and the children were almost insane with happiness.—Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal.

A Noble Husband.

"I should hate to have a husband who 'lowanced me every time I wanted to buy anything," said Mrs. Simms. "When I tell Simms that I want a little change to go shopping with he doesn't hum and haw as some men do. He just takes out his pocket-book and says: 'Certainly, my dear, how much do you want, a five or a ten?'" "And what do you say?" asked Mrs. Smith. "Oh, I never say anything. He gives me the money right off without waiting for me to answer." "And how much does he give?" "A dollar generally—unless he has some change handy. But then it isn't the amount that I care so much about. It is the readiness with which he responds to my request that makes me think so much of him."—Boston Transcript.

The Daily Republican.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

For Governor,
RICHARD J. OGLESBY,
of Logan.
For Lieutenant Governor,
JOHN C. SMITH,
of Cook.
For Secretary of State,
HENRY D. DEMENT,
of Lee.
For Auditor of Public Accounts,
CHARLES P. SWIGERT, of Kankakee.
For Treasurer,
JACOB GROSS,
of Cook.
For Attorney General,
GEORGE HUNT,
of Edgar.
For Congress—14th District,
JONATHAN H. ROWELL,
of McLean.
For member State Board of Equalization,
JAMES C. LAKE,
of Macon.

THE Inter-Ocean seems determined to nominate Arthur. In its Sunday edition it has this paragraph:

We publish this morning a corrected list of delegates to the National Republican Convention, bringing the record down to Saturday. Up to date 578 delegates have been elected, of which it is estimated 300 are for Arthur, 139 for Blaine, 49 for Logan, 45 for Edmunds, 22 for Sherman, and 23 scattering. Of the 242 delegates to be elected Arthur will probably have 132. This would give him the nomination with twenty-one to spare. That this is not wild figuring a glance at the list giving delegates by states will show. Arthur has now twenty-two more votes than all the other candidates combined, and when it is seen that no possible combination will defeat him there will be be new alignments and a new muster of forces.

Mr. Jones Tampers With Science.

Mr. Jones is staying at home for a few days, and his face is so covered with bits of court-plaster ingeniously cemented on that it resembles the map of an unbuilt prairie town. It all happened in the cause of science, but Jones says it hurts just as much.

He was reading up electricity; Mrs. Jones was peacefully darning Willie's socks with her mouth full of balls of yarn and darning needles, assorted sizes, when Jones suddenly laid down his book and said:

"Electricity is a wonderful thing."

"I thpose it ith," answered Mrs. J. holding her head to one side, to admire a darn.

"Maria," pursued Mr. Jones in a tone of self-consciousness, "I have half a mind to try some experiments. I wish I had a cat."

"I can get one, pa!" suggested Willie; "there's Mr. Sawyer's Old Tom, would he do?"

"Yes! and I will show you the most remarkable effect in electricity. If you take a cat into a dark place and rub the fur the wrong way, luminous sparks will fly in every direction. You can see them, you can hear them, and they will even ignite tow if brought into contact with it."

"Will they kill the cat?" asked Mrs. Jones, getting interested, "because if they do, you will be a benefactor to the race."

"Which race," asked Jones, shortly. "You don't understand, Maria. This is a scientific fact."

"Here's the cat, pa," said Willie at this juncture, bringing in a big, fat, lazy animal that infested the neighborhood with its midnight brawls.

"I'll just step into a dark place with it," said Jones. "The china closet will do; and when I speak, you open the door a crack, and you'll see such a revelation of electricity as you never dreamed of."

Mr. Jones stepped into the closet and Willie handed him the cat, which purred sleepily and did not seem in the least disturbed. Jones shut the door, and for a moment there was silence. Willie got under his mother's chair, and Mrs. Jones braced herself with both hands and waited. When the explosion came the cat went through the window of the dining-room without waiting for orders, but the soup tureen and the china desert set, and Jones, were so mixed up that it was hard to find him under the debris. He said he never remembered anything after he smoothed that cat the wrong way.—Detroit Post and Tribune.

THE Illinois Railroad Commissioners, who come nearer laying claims to omnipotence than any other official body, decide that no concessions can be made by the corporations to wholesale shippers. "A shipper with one carload," they say, "is entitled to the same rate as if he had 50 or 100 carloads," other things being equal. This, however, is an open question in point of equity and public policy, if not in point of law. Earlier Illinois Commissioners have taken the other view. In the courts very diverse opinions have been rendered, some sustaining and others controverting the doctrine now promulgated from Springfield. Here is one of the two or three great issues in the "railroad problem."—Globe-Democrat.

Is Fun Better than Physic?

Fun is excellent; a hearty laugh is known the whole world over to be a health promoter; but fun does not fill the bill when a man needs physic, on the other hand people take too much physic. They would be more healthy, live longer and enjoy life thoroughly if they used Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which cures all blood disorders, indigestion, kidney and liver troubles, removes pimples and is a perfect tonic. Can be taken by the most delicate. Only 50 cents per bottle of Dr. A. J. Stoner, physician and druggist, 14 south side new square, Decatur, Ill. 4

LAST year nearly 163,000,000 tons of coal were mined in England, of which over 20,000,000 tons were exported. The number of persons employed in the mines is about 515,000, compared with 504,000 in 1832. A few years ago a great outcry was raised about the exhaustion of coal, but the production still goes on increasing. In ten years the increase has been nearly 40,000,000 tons.
